Bentley User Group Denmark:

The Bentley User Group Denmark (bentleyuser.dk) is an association of Danish and foreign users of Bentley products. The purpose of the association is to convey information of interest to the users, ensure exchange of ideas and experience, support demands and requests from the users to Bentley and to promote the establishment of Special Interest Groups (SIG's).

Bentleyuser.dk is an organisation independent of suppliers with common rules and regulations and a board elected by the users. A general meeting is held once a year in connection with the annual meeting which is open to all members of the association.

As members of bentleyuser.dk, the users are given the possibility of meeting other Bentley users on a regular basis and to exchange ideas and experience of help to the users in their daily work. Bentleyuser.dk addresses special user problems and assists in arranging direct contact to the supplier both in Denmark and abroad. In this way, a constructive dialogue is established between the user and the supplier.

Membership of bentleyuser.dk:

All companies, organisations and institutions, large or small that own or use Bentley products are welcome as members of bentleyuser.dk and the majority of the Danish Bentley users are today members of the association. In connection with the annual general meeting 2007, it was decided that also foreign users could join/be member for bentleyuser.dk. The working language of the association is Danish, but often presentations, minutes etc. are in English.

The membership fee is determined once a year at the general meeting and finances all the activities of bentleyuser.dk. At present a company membership fee is DKK 3.000 a year and a personal membership fee is DKK 500 a year. A company membership applies to all the employees and local offices within a country. A personal membership is not company-related and is advantageous for independent consultants and small companies.

The membership fee covers expenses in connection with the association and SIG work and acts as financial security in connection with seminars and conferences arranged by the association. All work in connection with the association is unpaid.

Not only the users benefit from a large user group with many active members, but it also enables the suppliers to develop products relevant to the users based on an open and direct dialogue.

SIG – Special Interest Groups:

Bentleyuser.dk supports the establishment of special interest groups (SIG) within specific fields enabling like-minded people to meet, exchange ideas and experience and to discuss various product related problems within the field.

Within their own specific field, all SIG's collect and pass on demands and requests for development and clarify and discuss solutions to problems with the supplier.

SIG's are established upon request and act as independent organisation under bentleyuser.dk with their own rules and regulations, approved by the bentleyusers.dk board. Each group is managed by a chairman elected by the users. The SIG chairmen are responsible for gathering information on international activities and for conveying information from the suppliers and bentleyuser.dk to the SIG members for example by means of the homepage on the internet.

Bentleyuser.dk members can participate in one or more SIG's of interest. SIG meetings are held once every three to four months and the SIG-meetings are usually held at the users' offices, free of charge.

Remember that everybody benefits from bentleyuser.dk and therefore your participation is also important!
